Terminal and Warehouse Visibility

Why pay extra for your ERP terminals at your external storage provider sites?

Terminal and warehouse providers have their own systems which are rarely integrated with your backend ERP systems. External storage providers have to perform double-entry of information when they receive orders, receive inbound shipments or deliver shipments on your behalf. Higher costs from them means higher costs for you.

Cloud based solutions offering fast and easy implementations with the flexibility to adapt to your dynamic business needs.

BENEFITS

- Reduces errors via automated business process monitoring and alerting
- Increases data security by eliminating remote access
- Improve speed and accuracy of available to promise inventory
- Accelerate time-to-invoice and month-end closing

KEY CAPABILITIES

- Standardize message formats and business processes
- Allows warehouses to maintain current technical capabilities
- Proactive issue resolution, including exception-based alerting and PGI/PGR positive confirmation
- Synchronize shipper and 3PL inventories

Suppliers often outsource storage functions to Third Party Logistics Providers (3PLs). These partners store materials in a network of terminals and warehouses to maximize distribution efficiencies. 3PL networks can become quite complex, with multiple communication streams and growing operational challenges. Ineffective manual processes often result in costly delays and errors, while leading to customer service issues and dissatisfaction. This solution allows you to transact with all of your partners in the same way overcoming complications from different communication methods.
